ALLOTMENT OF AUSTRALIAN HANDICAP

STEP 1:

Use the table below to determine the number of Handicap Differentials to be included in the handicap calculation: (Note: Handicap Differential = Gross Score – ACR/AWCR (this is the value that will be featured in the 'Played to' column on golfink.com.au)).

ACR = Australian Men's Course Rating

AWCR = Australian Women's Course Rating

of Scores in Scoring Record	Differentials to be Used in the Calculation
3 to 6	Lowest 1
7 or 8	Lowest 2
9 or 10	Lowest 3
11 or 12	Lowest 4
13 or 14	Lowest 5
15 or 16	Lowest 6
17 or 18	Lowest 7
19 or 20	Lowest 8

STEP 2:

Average the Handicap Differentials being used (as determined by the above table).

STEP 3:

Multiply the average by 0.93. (Note: This is the 'bonus for excellence' factor. Bonus for excellence is the incentive for players to improve their golf game. As a player's handicap improves (gets lower), the player has a slightly better chance of placing high or winning a handicap event).

STEP 4:

After applying STEP 3, delete all numbers after the tenths' digit. Do NOT round to the nearest tenth. (For example 23.6983 becomes 23.6)

STEP 5:

In the example provided in STEP 4, the exact Australian Men's Handicap or Australian Women's Handicap is therefore 23.6. (Note: The playing handicap is determined by rounding off the exact handicap. (For this calculation, .5 or more IS rounded up, so in this example the player with an exact handicap of 23.6 will play off 24.))

NOTE - ANCHOR PROVISION

A player's handicap is not permitted to increase by any more than 4 strokes beyond their best exact handicap from the previous 12-month rolling period.

For a detailed outline of the Australian Handicap system please refer Golf Australia's website:

www.golfaustralia.org.au
